

LUX

LUXURY LIFESTYLES MAGAZINE

LET IT SNOW

in this issue...

CREATING THE WORLD'S MOST GLAMOROUS SHOPPING STREET ♦ THE FINE WINE REVOLUTION
CRUISING TO NEW HEIGHTS ♦ HEELS, BABY, HEELS ♦ TOP LOOKS THIS SUMMER FOR MEN AND WOMEN
ETHICAL CHOCOLATE ♦ THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN THE WORLD ♦ INVESTING IN STREET ART

WINTER WARMERS

We're feeling like mixing it up in our drinks cabinet this winter...here are five of the most luxurious tipples to keep you and your best friends company, whatever the weather

(1) If you like a bit of age on your champagne, look no further than the unctuously complex Pol Roger Cuvée Sir Winston Churchill 1998; named after the British PM, and with power to match. polroger.com (2) Rye vodka has a distinct creamy bite to it, and it doesn't come better, or more beautiful to look at, than Polish aristocrat Jan-Roman Potocki's own brand, Potocki. potockivodka.com (3) Grey Goose was the world's first 'superpremium' vodka and has an enduring place in our hearts. Hewn in France, the L'Orange version also makes the perfect Cosmo, though you could try it on the rocks. greygoose.com (4) Legendary cognac house Hine is releasing limited bottlings of its oldest brandies, and the 1960, now available, has a rich, mellow depth, as we all do when we hit 50. hinecognac.com (5) The most prestigious champagne in the world, from one of the greatest vintages ever declared in the region: that's the winning combination of the sublime Louis Roederer Cristal 2002. champagne-roederer.com — Dariusz Szaniol